Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Status

- 1) Responsive to communication(s) filed on 30 November 2006.
 2a) This action is FINAL.                    2b) This action is non-final.

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Jeong (U.S. Pat. 6,672,699) in view of Watrobski et al (U.S. Pub. 2002/0140758)

Jeong discloses:

- regarding claim 1, providing the inkjet printer as a complementary cradle and starter cartridge; the cradle has a print engine controller (101) is arranged to operate a number of cartridges having differing performance characteristics (Figure 3; Abstract; Column 2, Lines 14-26; Column 4, Line 63 – Column 5, Line 17)

- regarding claim 2, wherein the differing performance characteristics of the cartridges includes one or more of: printing speed; ink capacity; number and types of inks (Column 4, Line 63 – Column 5, Line 17)

Jeong does not disclose expressly the following:

- regarding claim 1, each of the cartridges having an inbuilt page width inkjet printhead

Watrobski et al discloses:

- regarding claim 1, each of the cartridges having an inbuilt page width inkjet printhead (Paragraph 0037), for the purpose of improving printing speed.

At the time the invention was made, it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art to incorporate the teaching of an inbuilt page width inkjet printhead as taught by Watrobski et al into the device of Jeong, for the purpose of improving printing speed.

Claim 3 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being obvious over Jeong (U.S. Pat. 6,672,699) as modified by Watrobski et al (U.S. Pub. 2002/0140758) as applied to claim 1 above, and further in view of Eun (U.S. Pat. 6,033,053).

Jeong as modified by Watrobski et al discloses all of the claimed limitations except for the following:

- regarding claim 3, wherein the printing speeds of the cartridges varies between 15 ppm to 60 ppm

Eon discloses:

- regarding claim 3, wherein the printing speeds of the cartridges varies between 15 ppm to 60 ppm (Column 4, Lines 27 – 37).

At the time the invention was made, it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art to incorporate the teaching of the printing speeds of the cartridges varies between 15 ppm to 60 ppm as taught by Eon into the device of Jeong as modified by Watrobski et al, for the purpose of increasing the speed of printing.

Claims 4 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being obvious over Jeong (U.S. Pat. 6,672,699) as modified by Watrobski et al (U.S. Pub. 2002/0140758) as applied to claim 1 above, and further in view of Trafton et al (U.S. Pat. 6,851,799).

Jeong as modified by Watrobski et al discloses all of the claimed limitations except for the following:

- regarding claim 4, wherein the ink capacity of the cartridges varies between 150ml of ink to 300ml of ink

Trafton et al discloses:

- regarding claim 4, wherein the ink capacity of the cartridges varies between 150ml of ink to 300ml of ink (Column 1, Lines 42 – 50)

At the time the invention was made, it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art to incorporate the teaching of the ink capacity of the cartridges varies between 150ml of ink to 300ml of ink as taught by Trafton et al into the device of Jeong as modified by Watrobski et al, for the purpose of extending the life of the ink cartridge by increasing the ink capacity.

Claim 5 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being obvious over Jeong (U.S. Pat. 6,672,699) as modified by Watrobski et al (U.S. Pub. 2002/0140758) as applied to claim 1 above, and further in view of Silverbrook et al (U.S. Pat. 6,238,115).

Jeong as modified by Watrobski et al discloses all the claimed limitations above except for the following:

- regarding claim 5, wherein the number and types of inks includes black, cyan, magenta, yellow, infrared and an ink fixative

Silverbrook et al ('115) discloses:

Art Unit: 2853

- regarding claim 5, wherein the number and types of inks includes black, cyan, magenta, yellow, infrared and an ink fixative (Column 5, Lines 46 – 61)

At the time the invention was made, it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art to incorporate the teaching of the types of inks include infrared and an ink fixative as taught by Silverbrook et al into the device of Jeong as modified by Watrobski et al, for the purpose of improving the quality of printing.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-5 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection. Please see the above rejections regarding Jeong (U.S. Pat. 6,672,699) in view of Watrobski et al (U.S. Pub. 2002/0140758).

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
